WE NOMINATE

Chester Arthur Grove, a wondrously skilled laboratory technician and the confidant and adviser of internationally known men of science, who perhaps better than any other living Princetonian symbolizes the transition between Princeton Past and Princeton Present. Just a half-century ago, when modern physics were in their infancy and research was playing a "bit part" in higher education, Grove joined the University's Department of Physics, signing on for the equivalent of a 60-hour week at $25.00 per month. In July, 1953, at age 65, he is still several years from retirement and is more concerned with tomorrow's experiment than with extending an unequalled longevity record.

Some two months ago, while Grove was worrying about supplies of liquid air and distilled water and was repairing cobweb-like crosshairs in optical apparatus, a confidential letter went out from Palmer Physical Laboratory, calling attention to Grove's completion of his 50th year in the University's employ. The response was overwhelming and from all parts of the Western World came personalized letters of congratulations. Three Nobel Prize winners, presidents of front-rank institutions and others high in government and education joined forces in praise of Grove, thereby casting new light on the development of physical research here.

Grove, apprenticed shortly after the turn of the century to a combination wheelwright, painter and undertaker, succeeded a Civil War veteran as custodian in the University's old School of Science that stood on the site now occupied by the Firestone Library. It was there he met and worked with Owen W. Richardson, Nobel Laureate in 1928, who had been invited here to help design "Palmer Lab." Richardson in his recent note to Grove recalled: "I remember getting quite a shock when I was introduced to the part where I was supposed to set up a research laboratory. It was kind of a dark basement, ventilated by a hole in the wall apparently accidental in origin and inhabited by an impressive colony of hop toads." That was in 1906!

A member of the United States Atomic Energy Commission thanked Grove "because it was my first experience in a scientific laboratory and I was noticeably clumsy at it." Still another distinguished physicist remembered himself as an undergraduate "who made a thorough nuisance of himself by persisting in doing experiments which certainly had little to do with his course of study and which were of dubious value to anyone but himself." A third went on to say in the same vein: "Your skill, knowledge and general helpfulness were then as greatly appreciated as they are now."

For inspiring "respect and affection in his associates and in those who have ever come in contact with him;" for personifying all of the things connoted by the catch-phrase, "Ask Chester;" for understanding that men like the Comptons, Richardson, Shenstone, Smyth, Waterman, Davission and Bol need and merit down-to-earth support; this lifelong Princetonian is the Editors' nominee for Death Takes No Holiday. Throughout the U.S. this weekend, several hundred Americans are scheduled to die, almost as if the moment of their deaths had been set by time-table. Hundreds more will be injured, many of them for life, in utterly needless and wholly avoidable automobile accidents.

If every Princetonian is on hand to enjoy Monday morning breakfast and the basic pleasures that life holds in store for him, this community will be better off than many another where tragedy will strike.

Rent Control to End. With federal rent controls scheduled to expire on July 31, such ceilings in the borough are expected to end at the same time. The New Jersey Legislature last week passed a law which calls for state rent control on and after August 1.

However, municipalities have the option of passing a resolution calling for decontrol of rentals within their boundaries, and the borough is already on record as favoring such action. Township controls ended last September 30.

Bingo Referendum Set. After years of political jockeying, both parties in the Legislature have agreed that a vote shall be held next November on the question of legalizing bingo. Neither Republicans nor Democrats felt themselves in a position to deny that the game had been widely played while the question of its legality was being debated.

The lengthy referendum (running to nearly 150 words) asks whether the voters want the game permitted under sponsorship of veterans, charitable, educational, religious and fraternal organizations, civic and service clubs, fire companies and first aid units. Raffles would be similarly approved by an affirmative vote, in which local option will be the determining factor.

solidation Committee of the plan it submitted for merger of the borough and township was effected this week. Approval of the plan in full has been obtained from the State Local Government Board.

To supplement it, a detailed report will be prepared giving the facts and figures which motivated the committee's decisions on the plan. The report will be printed in pamphlet form and made available to all residents of the two municipalities by Labor Day.

In announcing that the major portion of its work has been completed, the committee stated:

"We have given thorough and careful study to all of the comments and questions raised at the public hearings and executive hearings, prior to submitting the plan to the State Local Government Board. With the benefit of these expressions of public opinion, and in light of further consideration, the committee believes that the plan as adopted furnishes a fair and sound basis upon which the voters may determine the question of consolidation."

The only change made prior to final adoption of the plan was elimination of mention of the First Aid Unit, which had been "assigned" with the fire companies to the new municipality if consolidation is approved. As the unit pointed out last week, it is not affiliated with the fire department or either municipality, and will function as it does now, regardless of the outcome of the referendum.

Princeton Inn to Expand. The board of directors of the Princeton Inn have authorized a series of major changes and expansion moves designed to meet increasing demands on the facilities of the familiar structure. G. Bland Hoke, who succeeded Harmon F. Hagenbuckle as manager in April, has announced that:

• The Inn has instituted a menu with entrees individually priced and appetizers à la carte in place of the former table d'hôte dinner; the dinner hour has been extended to 8 p.m.; the Hunt and Dutch rooms have been air conditioned and will be used as the main dining rooms this summer on hot days; an à la carte luncheon menu will be served outdoors on the terrace from noon to 3 p.m.

• Bids for the redecoration of all present rooms are now being made by Bumberger's of Newark, Strawbridge and Clothier of Philadelphia and James McCutcheon's of New York; the redecoration is scheduled for completion by September 8.

• With a hoped-for completion date of June of next year, the major portion of the master plan calls for construction of a new wing on the south end which will include a dining room to seat 250; additional guest rooms; and a banquet room with a separate entrance on ground level (the room will also be available for meetings and as a ball room).

• The new construction will allow the present dining area to be converted into a spacious bar and cocktail lounge; the Hunt room will be turned into a gift shop; the office space will be revamped and the kitchen area expanded. The present basement bar area will be turned into a party room and a game room.

Mr. Hoke reported that air conditioning will be installed soon. —Continued on Page 6

News of the Theatres

MURRAY THEATRE

The Devil's Disciple is a fun thing, and no mistake. The University Players are having fun doing it, and with the major assist from Shaw, the enjoyment spreads to the audience in short order. "Disciple" is the second of six bills at air-conditioned Murray Theatre and continues nightly through Saturday.

"The Infernal Machine" by the brilliant French writer and satirist figure Jean Cocteau will be the next presentation, opening Monday for a week's run. In the powerful modern retelling of the Oedipus legend, Vera Fusek (a newcomer to the Players) will be cast as Jocasta and Phillip Minne will play Oedipus.

The Players obviously sprinted to get the facile G. B. S. Comedy ready for the opening, but it was a great night for hammering and "takes." Philip Minne, as Dick Dudgeon, the little figure, ticked through Shaw's impudent and irreverent lines aided by his remarkably droll facial expressions. In the completely delightful trial scene, Mr. Minor teamed with the director of the play, Bill Butler (cast as General Burgoyne), to hit the evening's high spot. As a matter of fact, the Players' producer, Charles Schultz, got the play on its feet after a relatively slow start and scored brightly in his bit as Lawyer Hawkins.

The comic ran throughout the cast and other notable performances came from Henry Ross (reprising the role of Reverend Anderson which he played in the 1946 Community Players production), Peggy Allison, Tom Potter, Ron Harper, Judy Robinson, Sandy McNally and Betty Jane Dawson. And once again, Hugh Hardy's short-order sets were astoundingly good.

"The Devil's Disciple" is so fresh (both ways), that it's hard to believe that this satire-spoof of Puritanism, the British military and sundry other posturings was written in 1896. Shavian beliefs such as the nobility for sentimental thought and action are implicit, but the play is first of all sheer entertainment. Especially good for the dog days.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

Celia, the pre-Broadway murder mystery by George Batson starring Jessie Royce Landis, is in its final performances at the Bucks County Playhouse. The play marks the return of Miss Landis to the American stage after three years in England.

Starting Monday, the Playhouse will vary its usual fare by staging a musical revue for a full week. The California Strawhatters, brought intact from the Coast, will present "One Thing After Another," a package of musical numbers, sketches and dances.

The young group has offered 18 original revues, of which this is the latest. Members of the cast write, produce and direct, and the shows —Continued on Page 5 are put on with two piano accompaniment. The Strawhatters are making their first Eastern tour after major successes on their home grounds.

LAMBERTVILLE MUSIC CIRCUS

Gentlemen Prefer Blondes is playing a two-week run at the Music Circus, ending Saturday, July 12, with matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Dossie Hollingsworth, who has appeared in a number of recent B'way shows including "Blondes," is playing Lorelei, the devastating gold-digger from Little Rock. Others in the cast of the musical are Beatrice Arthur, Morley Meredith, Robert Feyti and Warda Donovan.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Dangerous When Wet (Thurs.-Sat.) is a hot weather entertainment special, the traditional big Fourth of July MGM musical. Esther Williams is back in the water again, and the film has a good supply of song-and-dance and laughs. It's about Channel swimming and other participants include Fernando, Jack Carson, Charlotte Greenwood, Danielle Darcel and William Demarest.

Pickup on South Street (Sun-Tues.) features an average underworld melodrama linked to a Communist espionage story. Richard Widmark in another of his excelling tough-guy performances steals Jean Peters' wallet containing hidden film. Enter spys and F.B.I., and a fairly exciting chase is on.

Shane (Wed. - Tues.) is a great motion picture, and a western at that. Extraordinary effects are drawn from ordinary materials: the family story elements are homesteaders trying to earn a grant of land, opposed by the big cattle ranchers, and the duel between "good guy" and "bad guy."

But George Stevens, handling camera and actors with magnificient skill, has produced and directed a powerful drama with sweep, suspense, technical detail and authenticity. Alan Ladd, Jean Arthur, Van Heflin, Brandon De Wilde and Jack Palance are the players, supported by magnificent Technicolor photography. Don't miss it.

THE GARDEN

Split Second (Thurs. - Sat.) is really tough and, if murder melodrama is your dish, excellent. Stephen McNally and Paul Kelley play two prison escapees and McNally makes his predecessors in the film killing themselves look like softies. The action plays against the clock and the high tension here is like an atomic explosion. The players also include Alexis Smith, Jim Sterrett and Keith Andes. Realism and an exciting conclusion are also assets.

A Perilous Journey (Mon.-Tues.) wanders as a mediocre, little action-romance affair set mainly in California in the 1850's. A group of virtuous young women seek husbands, find danger in the gold country. Vera Ralston, David Brian, Scott Brady.

The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms (Wednesday-Saturday) averages science fiction. The technical effects men have worked up a good monster for the occasion. It is supposedly been frozen in the Arctic for several million centuries and is freed by an atomic explosion and does quite a bit of harm (notably wrecking little old New York) before being destroyed.

present dining room through all the additions. Long-range plans call for the construction to allow for even more expansion and addition of dining and conference space when the need becomes apparent.

Menand Heads New Group. A new corporation designed to aid city, municipal and community planners has been formed, with offices at 92 Nassau Street (the Upper Pyne Building.) To be known as Community Planning Associates, Inc., it will serve on a consulting basis in the development of plans for the future growth of street patterns, schools, parks, uses of residential, business and industrial lands, and will serve both public and private interests.

Howard Menand, Jr., Assistant Dean of the School of Engineering at Princeton University, is the president. Sumner Irish, Assistant Professor in Civil Engineering, is vice-president and general manager, while Associate Professor Gerald Breese, Director of the Bureau of Urban Research, is secretary. Valantyne Brennan, formerly senior planner with the Westchester County Planning Commission in New York, will serve as the new firm's planning director.

Kafes Gets 18 Months. Former State Senator J. Richard Kafes, who was convicted of failure to pay some $68,000 in income taxes, has been sentenced to a year and a half in prison by U. S. District Judge Thomas Madden. No fine was levied against him; the maximum penalty he could have drawn was 27 years imprisonment and a fine of $70,000.

Kafes has resigned from the Senate as Mercer County's representative in the upper house, and has been suspended by the State Supreme Court from practice as a lawyer. He has announced plans to appeal the verdict.

Wednesday Closing Hours. Beginning Wednesday, a dozen merchants on Witherspoon Street will close their stores at 1 o'clock for the rest of the day. Wednesday afternoon closings will be observed each week through July and August.

Participating stores include Army and Navy, Bailey's, Gordon's Radio and Television Repair, S. B. Harris, Leonard's, Morris Men's Shop, Princeton Clothing, Princeton Sample Clothing, the Radio Center, Reliable Furniture, Tiger Auto and Nat Wolman's.

Three Retirements Announced. Tuesday marked the official close of their active careers at the University for Dr. Américo Castro, one of the most distinguished teacher-scholars on the faculty; Leslie I. Laughlin, a member of the admissions office for 25 years; and Mrs. Douglas G. Crawford, director of teacher placement in the University's Placement Bureau.

Dr. Castro is known as the Western Hemisphere's "best qualified interpreter of the meaning of Spanish civilization." A permanent exile from Spain after the rise of Franco, he has taught at and been honored by many of the world's greatest universities. He helped found the noted center for humanistic studies at the University of Madrid and is the author of many books and articles. He came to Princeton in 1940.

New Building Dedicated. Ceremonies Saturday marked the cornerstone laying for the new $100,000 novitiate building at the Our Lady of Princeton Convent on the Great Road. The new building, containing study halls, recreation rooms and classrooms, will be used to house and train the novice of the order.

The Most Rev. George W. Ahr, Bishop of Trenton, conducted the ceremonies and Rev. Edward C. Henry, pastor of St. Paul's, spoke at the exercises. Altar boys from St. Paul's who assisted Bishop Ahr were Stephen Hogarty, Louis Tevere, Valentino Fowler, Andrew Jennings, Anthony Schannel, Ralph Picone, John Mitchell and Robert Lippmann.

Business Association Plans. A three-fold program has been announced by the Princeton Business Association for the coming months. Its members will continue to work for passage of the ordinance to create three off-street parking lots, which the mayor and council will consider further on July 14. The association also hopes that legislation will be enacted shortly to control the activities of out-of-town vendors, whose sales they feel offer unfair competition to Princeton merchants. Preliminary plans are also being made for exterior decoration of the business district at Christmas, a project that was undertaken last year for the first time.

Orren Jack Turner, Jr. has been re-elected president of the association for another 12 months. Officers who will serve with him are Donald F. Pereselt, first vice-president; Wallace F. Crandall, second vice-president, replacing, respectively, John P. Silvester and Ralph D. Hult; Miss Alice R. Braverman, secretary, and Walter M. Weber, treasurer, were re-elected. New trustees are Harold M. Hinkson, Sr., Fred H. Lehnert, George S. Barclay and Loar Quickle.

Harvest Home Date Set. The annual Harvest Home held each summer by the Blawenburg Reformed Church has been set for Saturday, July 18. Turkey, ham "and all the trimmings" will be offered at this 80-year-old event, which offers a variety of entertainment in addition to dinners served at 5, 6, 7 and 8 p.m.

Last year, some 800 persons attended. Reservations are now being accepted by telephone (Hopewell 160-R) or by mail at Box 76, Blawenburg.

Theology Institute. The Seminary is again sponsoring its two-week summer Institute of Theology, with the program of devotional services, classes, Bible convocations, lectures and conferences scheduled to open Monday. As in the past, Princetonians are invited to register and should contact Dr. J. Christy Wilson at the Seminary (3193) for information.

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the National Presbyterian Church in Washington and pastor of President and Mrs. Eisenhower, will give the opening address Monday at 7:30 in Miller Chapel. This address and the evening lecture series are open to the public.

Two Sets of Tigers Win. Joe Golden, captain of Princeton's 1953 Eastern League champions and a guy who loves baseball, has good cause to remember the past month. On June 5, his outfit tied for the first place by blanking Harvard, 4-0. On June 9, the Oranges and Black whitewashed Yale, 10-0, and on the 16th, it tugged back Yale, 4-2, in the championship playoff.

That same night, the Tigers, in the YMCA-sponsored Midget League, whom Joe had managed this spring, won their league pennant and the right to play in the "world series." Joe couldn't be around to guide them through that—he had signed with Williamsport in the Eastern League, a farm team for the Philadelphia Athletics.

The A's played an exhibition game with Williamsport last week, and Golden was on first base. (Bob Brown, Yale's 1953 captain, was in right field.) Golden got four for five, including a base-clearing double in the eighth that gave the farm-hands a 10-9 victory over the major leaguers.

Joe's Tigers, whom the Lions Club sponsored, then proceeded to defeat the Giants (spanned by Gerber Chevrolet) in the best-of-three series. They took the first, 5-2, behind the steady pitching of Julius Cross; lost a 6-5 extra-inning battle as Bryce Chase won for the Giants; and captured the finale, 4-3, Saturday afternoon on Brokaw Field. Bruce Sandwick, Arnold Skaar and Cross threw for the victors, whose hitting was paced by Cross and Ed King.

Chick Davis managed the Tigers in Golden's absence, while Jack Shepard (son of Morrill Shepard, the high school coach) was in charge of the Giants. More than 200 boys took part in the season, most successful in the four-year life of the league whose energetic commissioner is B. E. Bergesen, Jr.

Softball Leaders. Teague's Stars in the American, Nassau Social in the National and Kings Inn in the Girls League—that's the first place story in the softball action sponsored by the Eagles. One of Teague's defeats (3-2 to the Sportsman's Club) has been protested and may result in a re-play.

The Sportsmen, who were also turned back by Teagues last week, 6-2, are in second place with the Eagles third. Gallup and Robinson, Cousins and the Ex-Stars follow in that order. Al Leiggi of the Eagles with a batting average of better than .300 is the league's leading hitter.

Paced by Gene Pierre and Art Gallant, each of whom is hitting —Continued on Page 9

500, and Jack Sweeney at 490, the Nassau Social Club is unbeaten in seven games and holds the for decision scored against Artistic Clippers (6-1). Huie McCredie, a veteran front-runner, has won all seven for the Social Club.

Tom Collins and Doug Watson have combined to pitch Artistic Clippers to six victories, with Jack Rutherford among the losing pitchers. Paul Garrison and Frank Matthews are leading the ETS batsmen and Harry Kohan is National Guard's leading slugger.

John Kraus is pounding the ball at a solid clip for second-place Swinnettors in the Girls League, but Kings Inn's all-around power and pitching continue to be more than the rest of the circuit can handle. Its most recent triumph was a 9-3 decision over last-place Perfectos, which Princeton Recreation Center also thumped, 15-3. Dan Moore was the winning hurler in that one.

Fields have been shifted in the American and National Leagues, with games slated for the high school and Country Day diamonds now being played on Goldie Field. Men's teams are in action Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, girls' on Thursday. See Calendar of the Week for the schedule.

Tennis Victims. Miss Ellen Kerney and Richard Lanahan were repeat winners in the junior tennis tournaments last week, which opened the annual series sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee. Miss Kerney topped Miss Hope Thompson, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, to defend her title successfully, while Lanahan won over John Chandler, 6-3, 6-2.

Men's singles play began this week, John Gurley launching the search in a field of more than 30 entries for the championship he won a year ago. Women's singles start next Wednesday; entries should be made at the YMCA (3630) by Tuesday.

Women Golfers in Action. Mrs. James Whelan of the Springdale Golf Club will defend her title in the Women's Golf Association of Trenton next week. Play starts Tuesday and will be staged successively over the Yardley, Trenton and Hopewell Valley courses. Women from nine clubs in the Trenton area will compete for the Times Newspapers trophy.

Mrs. Whelan shot an 82 last week to win low gross and low net members in a member-guest tournament at Springdale. Mrs. Robert Shaw took the low net for members; Mrs. Joseph Frelinghuysen won the low gross and Mrs. Davis Kelly the low net for guests. Winners in the kickers' handicap play were Mrs. Sumner Rulon-Miller and Mrs. Erling Dorf.

Stepp Retires as Coach. Howie Stepp, "dean" of all active varsity coaches at Princeton, has retired as swimming coach after a quarter-century of service during which his teams compiled a winning percentage of .711. He will devote full-time to his duties as University Registrar.

Stepp, who was "loaned" to Princeton by Yale in the middle of the 1929 season and stayed to make his career here, will be succeeded by his assistant for the past six years, Howard Canonne. A former head coach at Mercersburg, Canonne was one of the top free-style swimmers here 15 years ago. Maxwell "Mickey" Vogt, athletic director at the Newark A. C., will come here in the fall to assist Canonne and to coach the Princeton Bishens.

Short Notes. A Junior League baseball game Saturday will be the only July 4 activity, with the fireworks display cancelled because of repairs to Palmer Stadium. It will start at 6:15 on Brunkow Field, with a team selected from the Bamman's, Thorne's and Hook and Laddernines playing the Bowers, last year's champions.

Chick Davis will direct league activities this year, with play starting on Monday. Boys 15 and under are eligible.

Bob Unger has received an unspecified bonus for signing with the Philadelphia Athletics and will —Continued on Page 10 pitch for Savannah in the Sally League. Unger, a southpaw, hurled only nine innings for Princeton in 1952 and was ineligible last spring. Although he was known here as the tailback on the team that won eight of nine and was instrumental in the victory over Yale, the Associated Press story from Philadelphia listed him as a "Princeton pitcher who also played football."

Princeton athletic teams won six sectional or national titles this year (in hockey, baseball, 150-lb. crew, lacrosse, golf and tennis) but their over-all winning average of .642 was some 40 percentage points below that compiled during 1951-52. Varsity teams, only five of which were below the .500 mark, won at a .632 clip but were below the pace of .653 of the previous year. From point of view of team championships, however, the year was one of the most successful in Princeton athletic history.

The Class of 1956 was some 80 percentage points less effective than its immediate predecessor, which trampled the opposition at a .789 pace. It produced unbeaten teams in squash and track, as well as championship outfits in football, 150-lb. crew and lacrosse.

Dick Emery pitched almost 50% more innings in the Eastern League than any other hurler and had far and away the best won-lost record (7-1). Pennsylvania's Karl Hey, who allowed Princeton just one earned run in 18 innings but lost two 1-0 games to the Tigers, had the best earned run average—0.84, one of the best in the league's 24-year history.

Emery was 1.28 in 77 innings, compared to the 54 that Hey threw. Emery had four shutouts but no other pitcher had more than one.

David S. Shimomura, R.D. No. 3, received a B.A. from Temple University, while William S. Krouse, Carter Road, was awarded an associate degree in Applied Science at the commencement exercises of the New York State Agricultural and Technical Institute.

Advanced degree winners included James W. Redden 13 Leigh Ave., master of science in education, and Dr. Pia Chu Tan, of Princeton Hospital, master of medical science, from the University of Pennsylvania.

Bank Tours. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company has been taking part in the educational program of Borough and Township schools by providing guided tours of the bank and instruction in its operations to groups of students visiting the bank with their teachers.

The tours have been under the charge of Mrs. Lillian V. S. Stout, customer relations officer, and have included descriptions of procedures and demonstration of equipment. George R. Cook, 3d, president of the bank, has also spoken to the visiting groups, commenting on the responsibilities of the stockholders, directors and executives of the bank and on the trust department.

Strawhats Off To The University Players

The University Players are giving Princeton a real chance to see summer stock of the best kind—good plays well done. Their six-week season in air-conditioned Murray Theatre is directly in the tradition of the original Players group—which served as a training ground for Jimmy Stewart, Henry Fonda, Josh Logan, Margaret Sullavan and Bretaigne Windust.

The enthusiastic efforts of these hard-working young men and women bringing "good theatre" to Princeton deserve your support. Take an evening out and enjoy yourself at Murray Theatre.
